

Urban Food Revolution

DRCS was organised Urban Food Revolution: a learning sharing workshop at Rotary Sadan Kolkata West Bengal on 21st December 2017. This programme was inaugurated by Hon'ble MIC, Depart of Technical Education, Training & Skill Development, Dr. Rishi Krishna De, DDA(Admin) Barasat Barrackpur Subdivision Agri Office, North 24 PGS, Dr. Prabir Bhattacharyya, Associate Professor, BCKV Nadia, Dr. Joy Prakas Chatterjee Guest Lecturer, Depart. of Environmental Science, University of Calcutta, Mr. Anshuman Das, WHH and Mr Ardhendu Shekhar Chaterjee, Secretary DRCS. This programme is supported by WHH. Every one shared their experience and important thoughts regarding urban farming, MIC Mr Basu showed his interest and tell to incorporate this as a course in his department.

In this programme 4 schools and 15 entrepreneurs demonstrate their work and express their views regarding this. In this workshop MIC also published one manual and a case study booklet about Urban Farming. One video document regarding various case studies also showed in this programme.

Certificate was issued to 55 successful trainees in this workshop.

Photo Gallery

